Ocean Avenue Parkway Remains Hot Issue With City's Official Family

The anticipated fireworks did not go off at Wednesday night's city council meeting. There were differences of opinion but nobody lost his temper or tried to bully the other members into accepting his point of view.

And a heavy agenda containing much solid business was worked through efficiently.

The differences of opinion:

Street Commissioner Francis Whitaker wanted the council to approve his recommendations for landscaping the center strip of Ocean Avenue. The council accepted his report but withheld approval of his recommendations, since they differed from those previously submitted by the planning commission's landscaping committee, and referred them to the planning commission for its opinion and recommendations.

Whitaker's recommendations:

That the planting be kept low for 15 feet from the intersections.

That a low-growing shrub other than juniper be considered.

That a low rail fence be put down the center of the strip to prevent pedestrian use across the planting and that low shrubs, two to three feet high, be planted along the fence, preferably huckleberry.

That the planting be done by the street department under the recommendations of the landscape committee regarding removal and replacement of soil.

"But the landscaping committee had its heart set on juniper," commented Mayor Horace Lyon. Councilwoman Geraldine Smith wanted to know if juniper would grow. Street Superintendent William Askew said that which was planted years ago hadn't done well. Whitaker observed that you could make orchids grow if you were willing to spend the time and money. "It's a question of how far you want to go in expenditure."

Councilman Carl Patnude pointed out that since the disagreement between the landscaping committee and the street commissioner was over juniper, Whitaker's recommendations should be referred to the planning commission. "If they want to modify their opinions they can. If not they can send back their original plan and we can study both recommendations together." He so moved and Councilman John Chitwood seconded.

Whitaker then suggested that all the crosswalks through the island planting strips on Ocean Avenue be closed.

Mrs. John Chitwood, in the audience, said that if such a thing were attempted there would be a citizen uprising. Bill Brown, also a spectator, said when the council closed the lower crosswalk in the Pine Inn block they had no idea how close they came to revolution. Councilman Chitwood said they were a traffic hazard, but the council agreed to refer the matter to the planning commission.

Another point of difference arose when City Clerk Peter Mawdsley read a letter from the Mayor of Turlock suggesting that the council should start its meetings with prayer. Carl Patnude endorsed the idea. The other council members thought prayer was a personal matter, that used routinely to open a meeting, it would become perfunctory and lose its significance. Patnude still thought it was a good

When the Carmel Youth Center holds open-house tonight for its fourth anniversary celebration, visitors will be greeted by the Center's new officers for 1954-55, who were elected this week. They are (from left) Ted Ledbetter, historian; Pierre Olivie, treasurer; Lorna Forster, secretary; Merle Pitman, vice-president; Bill McCormick, president; and Bill Powell, sergeant-at-arms.

Tonight's party, to which the entire community is invited, will take place from 8:00 o'clock to midnight, and will feature dancing, refreshments, and a variety show by Youth Center members. Following Youth Center custom, several of the members' parents have volunteered to man the snack bar for the evening.

Music for dancing will be provided by Bill Pierce's 10-piece orchestra appearing through the courtesy of Local 616 A.F. of M. on a grant of the music Performance Trust Fund of the recording industry.

The variety show will open with several selections by a new combo called the Prune Pickers, featuring John Mason, accordion, Dave Gray, electric guitar, and Dick Holt, guitar. Pamela Beales, always a standout in Youth Center shows, will do a tap dance routine, and tenor David Junkin will sing several popular favorites. Marimba melodies will be played by Luraine Dearing, with Judy Paplow as accompanist. For a finale, Pee Wee Marshall will join those zany clowns of Youth Frolics fame, Buzz Knight and Denny Johnson, in some plain and fancy nonsense.

The Center will also display its latest gift from Bing Crosby, a monumental record album which covers over 20 years of Crosby crooning. The new records will be played on the phonograph which Bing donated to the Center on its first anniversary.

City Could Carry $16,624 Annual Cost Of Pensions Without Increased Taxes

If the voters approve the state retirement plan for Carmel city employees in the November election, cost to the city will be $16,624.91 annually for the first 25 years, City Clerk Peter Mawdsley told the city council in presenting a digest of the state actuarial report at Wednesday night's meeting.

This could be paid for out of current income without increase in taxes, Mawdsley told the Pine Cone later in answer to a question. Cost of carrying the first six months of the plan is already provided for in this year's budget.

The above total is the sum of two yearly cost units, a contribution of $9,107.95 to cover current service costs, which is variable, since it is figured on current payroll; and a prior service cost of $7,516.96 which is constant for 25 years and then ceases. The prior service item provides a fund so that when city employees reach retirement age they will be credited with all their years of service to the city and not just the years following the date when the plan is adopted.

This is important to the employees because the amount of their monthly retirement pay will be based on both the amount of their earnings during the last five years before retirement and the total number of years they have worked for the city.

The prior service cost spread over 25 years totals $187,924, about $50,000 more than the city would have to put up if the state allowed lump sum payments. A 20-year period spread could be chosen, in which case the annual cost would be $8,884.09.

The employees make no contribution toward paying the prior service cost but their payment for current service cost is greater than the city's, $12,631.32 per year against the city's $9,107.96. Percentage-wise, the city is assessed 7.506 percent of the $121,344 payroll; the employees, an average of 10.41 percent.

Individually, the employees' monthly payroll deduction for the

Dinosaur Dam Becomes Election Campaign Issue

BY C. EDWARD GRAVES
Western Representative, National Parks Association

The defenders of Dinosaur National Monument have been congratulating themselves on a victory that they knew to be temporary, but they have been hoping that it would at least give them a few months of respite before the next session of Congress. Now their hopes have been dashed.

Word has been received that the proponents of Echo Park Dam are engaging in an all-out campaign to put candidates for Congress on record in favor of the dam. Since there is only a month left before election, that means that the battle-weary conservation troops have to swing into action again.

Entirely apart from the question of the invasion of the national park system by the building of this dam, there are two other aspects of the problem that every voter should know about and should be prepared to question candidates for Congress about. First, there is the financial aspect.

The assertion that the Colorado River Storage Project, which includes the Echo Park Dam, will pay for itself is unwarranted. It is to be financed under a brand new formula, known as the revised Collbran formula. There is no room in this column for details. The significant fact is that this formula has never before been used. In exploring its intricacies, economists, such as the well-known columnist, Raymond Moley, have found that there are hidden subsidies in the interest charges that will cost the nation's taxpayers approximately one billion dollars.

A break-down of this expense shows that New York State will pay approximately $123 million of the total, and California $93 million, whereas the principal beneficiaries, Utah, New Mexico and Wyoming will pay $4 million, $3 million and $2 million respectively. This is an outright gift from taxpayers, not a loan. Even if the original cost of construction should finally be repaid, which is doubtful, this immense hidden subsidy would still remain.

The second questionable aspect is the agricultural one. A recent propaganda broadcast said: "Your future food supply is at stake". This is ridiculous. All the land to be irrigated at an expense to taxpayers of over $2500 an acre is at elevations of around 7000 feet. Nothing can be grown there but hay, and a few hardy cereals. It will add nothing of consequence to the nation's food supply.

Many economists are asking whether all feasible reclamation projects in the country have not already been constructed. The Colorado River Storage Project and the Central Arizona Project, the two big ones now being pushed by the Bureau of Reclamation, are fantastically impossible, according to any good business standard.

Free Performance Of Cosi Fan Tutte At Sunset Sat.

A concert version of Mozart's sparkling comic opera Cosi Fan Tutte (or, School for Lovers) will be presented tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium.

The performance, which is free to the public, is sponsored by the Musical Art Club and directed by Dr. Harvey Marshall, head of the music department at Monterey Peninsula College.

Featured in the cast will be James Gordon, tenor, and Wallace Doolittle, baritone, as the idealistic lovers Ferrando and Guglielmo; Margaret Graham, lyric so-

CARMEL VARSITY UPSETS ATASCADERO; JVs DROP ONE

Showing terrific improvement in all phases of the game, the Carmel High varsity football team battled the vaunted Atascadero Greyhounds on even terms for most of the game and finally pushed across the winning touchdown in the final period to earn a 14-7 verdict over the visitors. Moving with precision on the ground and passing much sharper than in their losing effort to Gustine, the Padres showed signs of jelling into a dangerous aggregation before the current season is much further along.

Losing the toss and forced to kick to start the game, the Carmel defensive unit put up stubborn resistance and forced the Greyhounds to kick. Taking over on their 12-yard line, the Padres marched the distance in 16 plays as West Whittaker scampered four yards for the touchdown. Quick shots through the line by Roger Bullene, Whittaker, Clyde Klaumann, and Mike Mosolf ate up most of the yardage of the touchdown march.

Undaunted by the quick Carmel score, Atascadero put on a scoring march of their own after receiving the ensuing kickoff. Operating off the single-wing formation with bruising power, the Greyhounds struck off-tackle on straight power shots, reverses, and spinners to dent the Carmel end zone early in the second period. As both conversions were good the midway score rested in a 7-7 deadlock.

The Padre defensive gang of Dick Jennings, Jon Menand, Merle Pitman, Pat Erwin, Jon Chase, Gene Gawain, Dick Ogden, Roger Smith, Bill Powell, and Don Rowe solved the Atascadero power attack in the second half, holding the visitors outside the 30-yard line during the two quarters. Carmel's split-T attack moved well for good gainers but bogged down within the ten-yard line on several occasions. However, in the final period a series of off-tackle thrusts by Clyde Klaumann and some quick hits by Whittaker and Mosolf put the Padres in scoring position where Whittaker blasted over from two yards out. Paul Fratessa again made good on the kicked conversion and the Carmel Padres had won their first game of the '54 season.

In the coveted win over the Greyhounds, Carmel's offensive unit of George Wightman, Jon Farrell, Bob Michela, David Castagna, Greg Danelz, Millard Martin, John Thompson, Mike Mosolf, Roger Bullene, West Whittaker, and Clyde Klaumann showed flashes of real smoothness in operating the split-second timing spectacular split-T offense. With better handling of the wide stuff and solid protection for the passer, this year's Red & Gray edition will move against any of the opponents on the schedule.

Raw inexperience betrayed the little Padres in their 13-6 loss to the Atascadero junior-varsity. Making a game of it all the way, the Padrecitos blew the decision in the final seconds as a Pup end circled behind a Carmel halfback and snared the winning touchdown pass. The little Padres hit the scoreboard on a well-executed flanker pass from Charley Dawson to Jimmy Konrad. A neat 60-yard reverse play put the visiting junior-varsity on even terms with the Carmel lads. Defensive stalwarts Syd Trevvett, Craven Ross, Harry Baxter, and Ron Huffman stood out for the Carmel cause as they rose up time after time to stem threatening touchdown drives engineered by the visiting Pups.

CARMEL JUNIOR-VARSITY HOSTS MONTEREY TODAY

With their big brothers making the long trek to Cambria tomorrow, the Padre junior-varsity football squad will go into action this afternoon against the hard-hitting Monterey lightweight aggregation. This will be the third outing for the green Padrecitos who are still seeking their first win of the current season. Matched with the San Lorenzo varsity in the opener, the little Padres were trampled, 32 to 6, in a fumblefest which saw most of the bounces going to San Lorenzo. Back in their own class against the Atascadero junior-varsity, the Carmel small fry played the perfect hosts and fumbled away several scoring chances to see the visitors win this one, 13 to 6.

Today's joust with Doug McNeil's lightweights won't be an easy one for the little Padres as the Monterey gang is fresh off a convincing 51-0 win over the Gilroy junior-varsity. In an attempt to throttle the potent Monterey single-wing attack, Coach Chuck Dawson will send a defensive unit of Pat Grimshaw and Craven Ross, ends, Paul Prince and Brian Leidig, tackles, Harry Baxter and Syd Trevvett, guards, Ben Huffman and Bob Wise, linebackers, Charley Dawson and Dick Holt, halfbacks, and Jon Zellhoefer, safety, against the Toreador Babes. An offensive gang of Mervyn Sutton and Dave Gray, ends, Paul Prince and Graves Cox, tackles, Harry Baxter and Pete Brickey, guards, Tony Weaver, center, Gary Nielsen and Jon Zellhoefer, halfbacks, Charley Dawson, quarterback, and Jim Konrad, fullback, will try to dent the Monterey goal line.

Game time for tomorrow's practice tilt is set for 3:30. The public is invited and the price is right—Free.

CLEAT MARKS

Carmel High's varsity football squad heads down Highway 1 tomorrow morning for a 1 o'clock joust with the farmer lads at the Coast High School in Cambria Pines. Reports from San Luis Obispo indicate the Coast Tigers are loaded with speed backs who can run a mile but are rather small up front. If the Padres can take a page from the Stanford book in their game with Illinois, they should be able to capitalize on line superiority to establish game control against the speedy farmers. This game with Coast should be a good tightener for the local preps before they launch the league season against Hollister next Friday night. Away from the prying eyes of visting coaches, the Padres can try out any offensive tricks which they might spring on league opponents later in the season. Carmel's New Look backfield of Roger Bullene, West Whittaker, Clyde Klaumann, and Mike Mosolf appears to be the best since the powerhouse quartet of Jim Hare, Tom Handley, Jack Belangee, and Legare McNeill rode roughshod over B league opponents. . . . Good football fare at Pacific Grove tonight where the potent Breakers host the good Arroyo Grande eleven from down San Luis Obispo way. This is the same gang which played Monterey High on even terms for the first half last Friday night at Monterey High stadium. Pacific Grove will be meeting their first real football test in this one and a win over Arroyo Grande would establish the Breakers as a near-cinch to win the B division flag. . . . Too bad the MPC Lobos can't get their top team in action when they play at home before the very partisan Monterey rooting

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Blind Man's" Bluff

You know how Handy Turner down at the hardware store goes in for weird advertising stunts. Well, when it came to plugging his new Venetian blind department, his enthusiasm nearly landed him in trouble.

Handy painted a warning on the tailboard of his truck: "Caution—blind man driving."

"Had driven about a mile," Handy says, "when a state trooper stopped me and told me that sign might cause trouble. Guess he was right. From now on I'll advertise in the Clarion."

From where I sit, I agree—the highway is no place for jokes. We all ought to be considerate of the other fellow when we're driving. In fact, let's respect our neighbor's right of way always. Then, when we have differences of opinion—say about the best route to Centerville, or whether beer or buttermilk is better with lunch—there will be less chance of anybody developing any "blind" spots.

The Needler

By Beth

Back home again and I must say I hated leaving Tahoe. The weather was still warm and lovely in the daytime, with the last few nights being slightly under freezing temperature. By comparison with that area, however, I can't say enough for the long-range Carmel city planning. Up there, around the lake, there is no zoning whatsoever, and anyone who wanted to could turn property or houses into commercial enterprises right now. Result is many unattractive curio shops, hamburger stands and cheaply-constructed motels for the summer visitors. There is a Chamber of Commerce there but I'm told that the members fight among themselves and have been unable to come to an agreement on the subject of restrictions. By the time they do, it will be much too late. No wonder tourists are goggle-eyed at our Village.

Intrepid young gal here was making the rounds of the stores and shops this week to collect articles for the Democratic Club rummage sale. Just for the laughs she decided to go into one of the places which is owned and operated by top local Republicans. To her surprise, after giving the pitch, the woman dove in and collected any number of things for the sale. When they were all finally bundled up, the young lady said, "I think it is simply wonderful of you to give all these things to the Democrats." "Democrats," the woman screamed, "I thought you said Republicans!" She was a good sport, however, and everything was okey.

This is really Armand's (of the local beauty shop) year. Short time back he won a mink stole as a door prize and sold it for a nice bit of change. Then the other day he was on the beach exercising his German Shepherd. The dog raced around and occasionally would run back to his master and drop at his feet a stick or rock or dried piece of seaweed. On his last trip he dropped a sodden and crumpled piece of paper at Armand's feet—a $10 bill. He sent the dog back for more of the same but apparently that was his take for the day.

Incidentally, remember in this column a couple of weeks back about the snapshot of the dog which was found on Ocean Avenue? The snap was later claimed at the Pine Cone office by the owner, Miss Evalyn Goldsmith. She might be interested to know that the picture was picked up and handed to me by Natalie Hoffman, long-time Carmelite, who also has a tender heart for dogs and thought perhaps it was a valued snap, which it was.

Decided, of all things, to bake some bread up at Tahoe, a chore I hadn't attempted for years. The very nice real estate woman there, Alexine McPherrin, did a survey among housewives up there to find if yeast was affected by altitude and found just one person who had ever attempted bread. She came back with the news that yeast baking remained the same, but baking powder not. It turned out she was right, for I used a regular recipe and the bread was excellent. Was interested to learn that package mixtures such as biscuit and cake mixes are especially prepared for high altitude cookery, but if you began at scratch and used a regular cake recipe you would be up to your knees in cake dough before you knew it.

Kickoff Breakfast Opens Chest Drive

The 1954 Community Chest Fund Drive opened this week, with a goal of $92,700 set for the Peninsula.

Principal beneficiary of the Chest campaign will be the various youth activities on the Peninsula, including the Carmel Youth Center and the new Carmel Valley Community Center, which receive approximately 51½% of the Chest funds. Welfare services, such as the Well-Baby Clinic and the Visiting Nurse Association, receive 18% of the total, with another 7½% earmarked for the U.S.O. The remaining 12½% is retained by the Chest for administration and maintenance of its central service agency.

Carmel Community Chest headquarters is located at the P.G.&E. Building, and is in the charge of Mrs. Julian von Meier. Here workers report and the general public may obtain information regarding the drive.

Chest chairman and workers in the Carmel area went to work early following a kickoff breakfast Tuesday morning at the Girl Scout House. Present were Durbin Sayers, general chairman of the Chest drive on the Peninsula, and Capt. Archer Allen, Carmel Chest chairman, along with Mrs. G. W. Whiting, Carmel campaign coordinator, Mrs. Edward McMurtry, residential chairman, and Mrs. Louise Gruber, business district chairman.

Featured speaker at the kickoff breakfast was Brayton Witherell, who gave the workers pointers on salesmanship and soliciting. Captain Allen emphasized the desirability of collecting pledges rather than small cash donations, and reiterated the increasing need for funds by the Community Chest to support its various agencies.

Workers reported results of their first week's canvassing of business and residential districts at a meeting yesterday morning at the Scout House. The fund drive will continue through the month, though campaign chairmen are hoping to "go over the top" even before the deadline.

Cesare Siepi, leading basso of the Metropolitan, La Scala and Milan opera companies will open the twenty-eighth annual season of the Carmel Music Society at the Sunset Auditorium on Monday, October 18.

The remaining concerts of the season will be the Society Corelli of Rome, a chamber orchestra of fourteen string musicians playing Italian music of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, on November 17; Clifford Curzon, internationally famous English pianist, who will appear on January 24; Isaac Stern, violinist, on February 21; and Mattiwilda Dobbs, coloratura soprano, on March 7.

Guy Brink Opens Decorator Shop

A new interior decorating stüdio, under the direction of Guy Brink, A.I.D., opens today in historic Casa Abrego in Monterey.

Concurrent with the opening, the studio will feature a special showing of Fortuny fabrics. The firm will offer complete decorating facilities.

Guy Brink, a member of the American Institute of Decorators, has been established in Pasadena since 1930.

section. The peppy MPC rooters are giving the Lobos plenty of enthusiastic support and would be delighted to see injured stars Bob Updike, Charley Collins, and Walt Langford back in action. Football fans down Atascadero way maintain the Lobos are overlooking a very fine halfback in the person of Terry Newell who has been languishing on the Lobo bench. This lad was a ball of fire in prep circles last season and may be the answer to the halfback shortage at MPC. . . . Once there was a cat. He was a bobcat and his name was Tiger. He was a funny cat. He had no tail and he had seven fingers on one hand and six fingers on the other. At night he liked to catch flies for his dinner. If I give him dinner he runs away and catches flies and moths and lizards' tails.

Way out on the range, a long time ago, there were a lot of wild horses. In one of the herds there was a little colt. He loved adventures, and so he decided to run away. So he went to get a friend to take with him. He did not like to go places by himself. His friend's name was Star and his name was Beaver. And that is how Star and Beaver ran away. A bit later Star said, "I'm going home, I'm scared." "What?" cried Beaver. "Sissy." "I don't care," said Star, "the wolves come out at night, and I don't plan on getting eaten." So Star left Beaver out in the wide-open spaces. Suddenly Beaver heard the wolves howling. Oh, how he wished he had gone back with Star. Just then he saw his father attacking the wolves. Then his father came down and led him home. And they lived happily ever after.

Once upon a time a little girl was walking through the forest, and —— Pop! "What was that?"

"It is me," said a little apple.

"But what was that pop?" said the little girl.

"Oh, that, it was my tree. I grew on it. You see, I fell off of it."

"Oh, I see," said the girl.

"I know your name," said the apple.

"What," said the girl, "is it?"

"Dede".

"Yes it is," said the girl.

So Dede and the apple walked through the forest. And the apple said, "Stop."

Then he said "Hi!"

And a voice said, "Hi!"

"Who was that," said Dede.

"My family," said the apple. "See them?"

"Yes, I do," said Dede. "Let's invite them down."

"Okay," said the apple. "Come on down, Mom and Dad."

So they did. Down they came and then they had a picnic.

There was once upon a time a king and queen. But very soon after they were married the queen died of a heart attack. And so the king left his palace and went out to seek another wife. After he had gone about a mile he came to a palace. And he opened a gate and saw some very well dressed guards that for a moment he thought they were princes. And as he walked toward them, they held their swords toward him and so he asked, "Why do you hold your swords toward me?", and they answered all together, "We guard a princess." The king begged to enter, but the guards said, "Fight your way through us", so he agreed to. But he said, "First of all, tell me why you guard this princess." And they answered, "Find that out for yourself." "All right," answered the king. So they started fighting. The King wounded the guards but he too got wounded. But he finally wounded them so much that they could not get up. So he walked into the palace and saw the most ugly cat he had even seen. And as he was looking at the cat, the cat spoke to him and said, "Please cut my head off." The King was a little surprised but he thought that it might be the princess bewitched so he cut the cat's head off and it did turn into a princess and the most beautiful one he had seen. He was the most handsome man she had ever seen. "Well," she said to him, "How do you do, King. I'm very glad to meet you." And then the King asked, "How did you become bewitched?" And she answered, "Well, about ten years ago I was in my father's palace garden and a magician's wind came and carried me out of the garden. (A magician's wind is a wind made by a magician.) And the magician took me to this palace and changed me into a cat. You see, he just loved to change people into animals."

And they got married and lived happily ever after.

Hazel Watrous

Hazel Watrous, impresario and co-founder of the Carmel Bach Festival, died Saturday morning in San Jose where she had been visiting for a fortnight.

Born in Visalia, she was graduated from San Jose State College and subsequently studied painting and design at the California School of Arts and Crafts, the San Francisco Institute of Art, Columbia University, the University of California and the Rudolph Shaefer School of Design. She was also a private pupil of the Swiss painter Gottardo Piazzoni. For 12 years she was supervisor of art in both the elementary and high schools of Alameda. Prior to coming here, she also worked extensively in and about the theatre, both in Los Angeles and New York.

Hazel Watrous and her friend and business partner Dene Denny came first to Carmel in 1922 for a visit, returning after a sojourn in New York to make their permanent home. Their early enterprises included building along with artistic endeavors. Miss Watrous herself designed over a score of Carmel homes, including hers and Miss Denny's studio and residence. The partners launched themselves into the cultural life of the community by presenting a series of plays at the old Golden Bough Theater, which they leased. In 1928, in what is now the Pine Cone office, they opened Carmel's first gallery, presenting plays, concerts and other attractions in addition to art exhibitions. One of their notable early achievements was the first known American performance of Bach's Art of the Fugue. The Denny-Watrous Gallery later moved to the Murphy Building on San Carlos Street, and it was there that the amateur orchestra the partners had founded rehearsed and prepared the first Bach Festival.

Denny-Watrous presented the first annual Bach Festival in 1935, with Michael Penha as conductor. Over a period of years the orchestra grew and was augmented by members of the San Francisco Symphony, more and better soloists were brought in, a resident chorus established; Penha was succeeded by Carol Weston, Ernst Bacon, Sascha Jacobinoff, and finally, Gastone Usigli; increasingly greater crowds were attracted to the event; until the festival, now going into its 19th year, reached its present scope and fame.

Two years after founding the Bach Festival Miss Watrous and her partner arranged to lease California's First Theatre from the Monterey History and Art Association; the historic playhouse, dark for 89 years, was brought back to life, and under Denny-Watrous management, the Troupers of the Gold Coast began a successful venture which is going stronger than ever after 17 years. Denny-Watrous management has also brought top musical and theatrical atractions to the San Jose Civic Auditorium for the past 19 years.

In addition to her activities in partnership with Dene Denny, Miss Watrous also served on the Carmel City Council from 1938 to 1940, was a member of the board of directors of the Carmel Music Society, and has been active in the work of the Carmel Art Association, the Monterey County Symphony, and many other civic and cultural enterprises.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Zanetta Weed of Inverness, and a nephew, Richard Catlett of San Francisco.

Private funeral was held Saturday in San Jose.

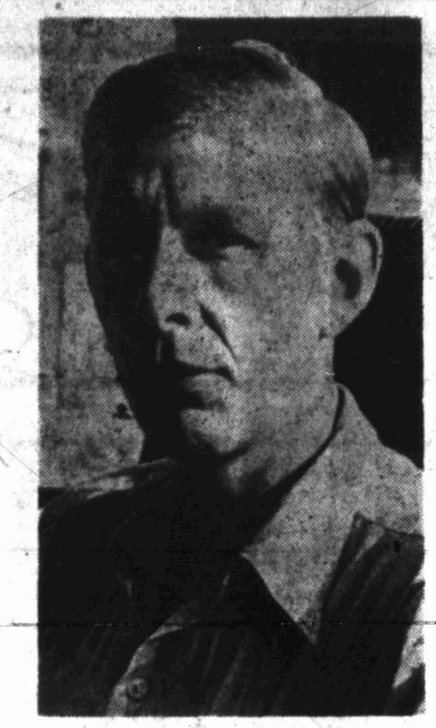
Noel Sullivan Honor Guest At Literary Tea

Noel Sullivan, one of the contributors to the recently published volume, Born Catholics, will be honored Wednesday at a tea and autographing party in San Francisco, to be held from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock at the Junipero Serra Shop in Maiden Lane.

Sharing honors with Mr. Sullivan will be two other Californians who contributed to the book: stage and screen star Jane Wyatt, and Frederick Wilhelmsen, author and professor of philosophy at the University of Santa Clara.

Born Catholics, compiled by F. J. Sheed of the publishing firm of Sheed and Ward, contains 19 essays by Catholics who were "born to the faith", each writing on his own religious experience. Other contributors are artist Jean Charlot, novelist Antonia White, writer-educator Erik von Kuehnelt-Leddihn, and Hugh Stott Taylor, dean of the Princeton graduate school.

Mr. Sullivan, for 15 years organist and choirmaster at Carmel Mission, is an outstanding patron of the arts and has made a wide study of race relations. His Hollow Hills Farm in Carmel Valley has long been a gathering place for artists, musicians and authors.



Recently arrived in this country from his island home on Ischia in the Adriatic is W. H. Auden, noted British-American poet, who will appear Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Hill Theater in Monterey in a reading and commentary of his savagely witty, often beautiful poetry. The event will benefit the important new Poetry Center at San Francisco State College.

TEAGUE WINS TOP AWARD

Carmel painter Donald Teague has been awarded the Schwabacher-Frey prize for best watercolor in the annual exhibit of the Society of Western Artists in San Francisco. Teague, whose prize-winning entry was entitled Chioggia, is a member of the Carmel Art Association and a frequent exhibitor at the gallery here.

Another Art Association member, Linford Donovan, was a member of the panel of judges who juried the show. Other judges were Paul Lauritz, who frequently exhibits here at the Artist Guild of America gallery, illustrator John Falter, artist Archie Fairbairn, and Ninfa Valvo, assistant curator at the De Young Museum.

Oil Show at Gallery

By Dora Comstock

It is always with a feeling of anticipation that one goes to the Carmel Art Association Gallery after the first of the month to see the new show. This month we are met at the entrance by a vibrant still life painting by Barbara West. It is a good introduction to a varied and well-chosen exhibition. Barbara West presents several pieces of her fine work, of which more will be said later. Inside, to the right of the entrance is the Blue Composition by Rip Matteson, a musical pattern of looped lines based on calligraphy with touches of vermillion and the use of vertical and narrow ellipse.

Taxco by Howard Smith has a quiet atmosphere with its donkey driver and slow tempo. Kitchen Still Life by Harry Yoshizumi is a particularly luminous piece of work in which the use of light and transparent colour transfer the tone-range from the yellow sequence to one of rusty rose. Even the homely egg-beater has its place and lends its design admirably to the whole. Reductive Plant by Buston Boundey is a direct, uncluttered grouping of simple masses, with the use of textures and intense colour. Oaks by Edna Richard achieves a depth and roundness of shadow in the trees and a pleasing rural feeling in the landscape. Still Life by Dorothy Roberts is painted in good clean colour, with a rendering of clear glass that does not obstruct the light. The arrangement is simple and forthright.

Flowers by Doris Rohr is a very charming little flower study, rich in colour yet restrained in feeling, the ember-glowing tones of the various flowers inviting in an agreeable harmony. Still Life with Coffee Mill by Linford Donovan is one of the outstanding pictures in this month's show, the richly-textured light-planes speeding across each other in an interplay of contrast at once exciting and assuring. In Geraniums Red Kent Daniels somehow raises this common flower into a new distinction by his soft rust-red interpretation of its flagrant colour. Seine Side by Jay Hannah, Jr., is a cool quiet little picture succeeding by the use of ivory tones and responding shadow in giving a sense of peace and thoughtful interest. Flower Study by Marjory Pegram is painted on a rough surface well suited to the compact flower forms of the arrangement. Shops by Jane Buffington shows a Carmel street with light facades and much of the interest in the shadowed interiors. Early Morning by W. Harvey Williamson is unusually successful in depicting the peculiar morning-yellow light which often floods the Monterey wharf as the sun streams in below the fog. Noauk Cove by Frank Moore is a happy picture with scintillating sunlight dancing on the lightly-rippled water and the boats lying in stillness beyond the sheltered cove. Farm near Fiesole by Zenas Potter groups buildings and orchard in a cup of the hills, the goats idly sauntering by and the trees standing in ordered rows in the vivid green grass.

Our Father by Leslie Emery is a strong and eloquent picture painted with the well-known detail and scrupulous truth of this artist. The face, raised in reverence and adoration, reflects in its fine clear features the intense supplication of prayer. Point Joe by Frank Myers, a free and motion-bright marine, moves in with its towering breakers and high-flung surf reflecting the sunlight on sea and rocks. Sevre Point Croix by A. G. Warshawsky is full of fresh atmosphere, the glimpse of village houses through the thick verdure glowing in high-spirited sunlight. Guanajuato by Patricia Cunningham is confident in drawing and spontaneous in line. The architecture rises in airy mass from the sheer colours of the foreground giving a feeling of sun-drenched facades and weightlessness. Nude by Richard Lofton is powerful in line and strongly painted in the original colour-sequence achieved by this artist. The Morning Flowers by Mary Miller is fresh with the cool crinkle of newspaper wrapping the flowers on the stand, the light-greens and yellows reflected in the pondering by-stander. The Railroad by Harold Landaker tells the story of the invasion of the West by the mechanical age, the rider with his horse musing from the high bluff as he looks into the valley, the delightful inquisitive ground-squirrel raised to the vertical as he interrogates the intruder. The Preening Cormorants by Russell Swan carries from their dark plumage a sense of sombre brooding to the rocks and the swirling sea.

Start of the Gather by J. N. Swanson is one of this artists' lively cattle pictures, full of action, well-drawn and painted with spirit and zest. The morning-blue of the hills beyond the rising dust and the yellow light have a lonely desert-range quality. Snow in the Park by Maxine Albro is a picture not like any other in the group. It is completely original and decorative. The colour and forms are simple and child-fresh, and the falling snow sifts a veil over the whole picture. Autumn's Gold by Thomas McGlynn succeeds in rendering the smouldering gold of the wild sycamores with autumn charm and color over color, the white-limber trees with their casual grace rising against this back-ground. White Azaleas by Nell Walker Warner is one of her well-known flower pictures with the over-lapping petals of the azaleas ranging their cool whites freshly one against the other. Hills around Carmel by Ida M. Curtis shows a charming glimpse of blue water surrounded by tier upon tier of hills rising from the mist and clothed with the familiar trees. This completes a tour of the main gallery.

In the alcove will be found a representative group of pictures by new members. Eugene A. Baker has three good clear water-colours. Monterey Wharf is structural in character, revealing good drawing and firm conception of the idea. Lower Road, Carmel Valley is especially pleasing in colour, massive in draughtsmanship and fresh in execution. Seascape is again dramatic and firm in concept, the light slipping through, under the heavy wet darkness of the sky. Boats and Gulls alive with crisp accents and subtle color reveals the artist who has mastered this difficult technique. Charles A. Thomas presents a still life painting in swift black outlines, unconstrained and free. A second still life is more closely realized, the greens, greys and amber following the simple arrangement with careful discrimination. A Flower Study with Fruit is an inter-play of all the colours of the spectrum combined to form a bouquet of contrasts. Gerald Wassermans' exhibit moves into figure studies. Beggars, a sombre-toned picture of a group of mendicants succeeds in uniting the attributes of poverty with their related shadowed gestures. Seated Arab is a striking picture, the bronzed features and the striped robe and yellow shoes characteristic and of good design. Merchant of the Medina implores the customer with ingratiating hands. Barbara West, whose fine still life was noted at the entrance, includes in her group a pastel of white chrysanthemums with their edges catching the light. Deserted Bridge so firmly spanning the creek from hill to hill, and Indecision, a thoughful portrait in ripe mellow tones, the face well-drawn and expressive.

Mason Wright in his pictures is conscious of space and airiness. High Skies surround the Red Ranch, and piled clouds form a towering background to the blue mountains behind Santa Barbara. Reflections are convincingly achieved and all is felicitous and without struggle. Ancient Sycamore is a truthful presentation of the beauty of these lovely straggling trees with their dappled bark and ash-gold autumn leaves. A blue vista through the branches intensifies the colours.

In the foyer the visitor finds a group of excellent portraits, and in the Beardsley Gallery several water-colours are quite outstanding this month. These will be reviewed next week.

SUCH ARGONAUTS
(Lewis and Clark)

Keel-boat and tow-line . . . and up the wide Missouri!
Council Bluffs—the calumet, and past the Niobrara.
Friendly Mandan, crafty Sioux,
Prairie sky's unending blue . . .
And the buffalo herds of the plain!
Two pirogues and six canoes and thirty-one young men:
They forged their way through the wilderness—
And the map still marked, "Unknown!"
They made their maps and they named their names:
Jefferson . . . Madison . . . Gallatin!
The courage of such argonauts
We shall not see again! . . .
But the land was wild and wonderful
As they stood on its sky-wide crest!
They quenched their thirst from a snow-fed spring—
And its waters flowed to the west!

—Blanche De Good Lofton.

HEARTHSIDE

The day has been tiring with sounds of money
The loud confusion of busy hands—
Drawing blueprints and balancing books
Solving problems the day demands.
Out where dusk is, earth is hushed now,
Where stars will follow, one by one—
As children coming home to a mother,
Like blessed thoughts of a holy nun,
In the twilight, earth is quiet,
Tranquil as vows of fidelity
Here where the leaves of the maple fall
Making the sidewalks a golden sea.
I can see the street light's candle
Flowering on every street as I go
I can see the lighted doorways
Shining with warmth, in a steady glow.
As I walk through a swish of crisping leaves,
My heart turns like a homing dove—
From the tense day's toil completed
Home, to the peace and power of love.

—Mary Ann Putman.

PIZZICATI STARS

A circus whim, a daisy fancy,
Tulip smile, teetotum joy,
Are tiny asteroids of music,
Notes that twinkle night and day:

Our sixteenth pleasures phrased together,
Pizzicati stars, now spin
Through the sparkling air of spirit,
Plucked from being's mandolin.

—Othelia Lilly.

O'Sheas Settle in San Jose

Marilyn Thatcher and John Michael O'Shea, both of Carmel, were married last Saturday afternoon at Carmel Mission, with Msgr. Michael D. O'Connell presiding at the 4:00 o'clock ceremony.

The bride, who has made her home here with her grandmother, Mrs. Carr Thatcher, wore a full-length gown of Chantilly lace over tulle, and carried a prayer book bound in mother-of-pearl given her by the bridegroom. Her attendants, Mrs. Bruce Summers of Orinda, Toni Triest of Reno, and Carolyn Urenn of Palo Alto, wore princesse-styled ballerina frocks in a wine-red shade, and carried novel white lace fans decorated with dark red and pink rosebuds.

John, the son of Mrs. John O'Shea, had Richard Baxter of Pacific Grove as his best man. Ushers were Erik Short, Legare McNeill and Len Cerney.

The wedding reception was held at the Thatcher home in Hatton Fields, where the wedding colors of wine, pink and white were employed in arrangements of gladioli. Following the reception, the couple left for a honeymoon in the Santa Cruz mountains.

They will make their home in San Jose, where John, a graduate of Carmel High and Monterey College, is entering his senior year on an NROTC scholarship at San Jose State. Nancy is also an alumna of San Jose, having graduated there last December. Since that time, she has been employed as an airline hostess out of San Francisco.

Climbers Scale Mt. Ararat

Last Sunday morning, on a trip sponsored by the Loma Prieta Chapter of the Sierra Club, eighteen eager mountaineers assembled at the base of Mr. Ararat for a climb to the top under the leadership of Bill Bancroft of Palo Alto. Lunch was enjoyed beside a small lake on the southeast side of the peak before the final assault was made up the steep, rocky slope in the warm afternoon sun. Although no traces of the famous ark were found, the climbers were rewarded by a spectacular view of the other rocky, volcanic peaks in the vicinity from the top. Local people making the trip included Eloise Salmon and Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Williams of Salinas and Mrs. Wilma Cook and Fremont Ballou of Carmel. The latter will act as leader on a joint trip with the Los Padres Chapter of Santa Barbara to the Arroyo Seco 17 miles west of Greenfield on the week end of October 23-24. All nature lovers interested in the conservation work of the club are invited to participate in this and the other trips of the various chapters of the Sierra Club which are scheduled for nearly every week end.

Mrs. Spaulding Back from East

Mrs. Arthur Spaulding returned last week from a ten-day visit with her family in Hartford, Connecticut.

Flying east with Mrs. Spaulding was her daughter, Carol, who has entered the fall semester at the Ethel Walters School in Sinsbury, near Hartford. Carol enrolled as a sophomore, having spent her freshman year at Carmel High.

Kurt von Meier on Active Duty

Off this week to the high seas—or maybe to be shore bound—went Kurt von Meier, son of Mrs. Julian von Meier. Rated in the upper third of the junior class at Cal, member of the Cal Rally Council and of the Del Rey Fraternity, Kurt elected to serve his two year's active duty before returning to finish his higher education. Having been a member of the Naval Reserve for the past two and a half years, Kurt will report to Treasure Island for assignment, either to an electronics school or aboard ship. Meanwhile, his mother promises to keep his golf trophy and fraternity stein dusted awaiting his return.

Stuyvesant Fish Engaged

The engagement of Miss Virginia Small of Rhode Island and Stuyvesant Fish of Carmel was announced last week by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Small.

The couple, who plan to make their future home in Carmel, will be married November 7 in Santa Ynez. Mrs. Frank Console of Santa Ynez will be matron of honor, while George Walters of Minneapolis will fly out from Minnesota to be best man. The reception will take place at the Santa Ynez home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Perkins.

Stuyvesant is the son of the late Mrs. Olga Fish of Cincinnati and the late Sidney Fish of New York and Carmel, and stepson of Mrs. Sidney W. Fish of Palo Corona Ranch. A graduate of Harvard, he served with the Navy during World War II, and is a member of the University Club of San Francisco and the Bachelors, of which he is a past president.

Margaretta Park to Wed

The picturesque town of Solvang in the Santa Ynez Valley will be the setting for the marriage next Saturday of Margaretta Park of Carmel and William Stanard Prowell, a student at the Army Language School.

The couple will exchange vows in St. Mark's Church in Solvang. Present for the ceremony will be the future benedict's mother, Mrs. Walter D. Prowell, of Lyon, Mississippi, and his brother, Walter D. Prowell, Jr., also of Lyon, who will serve as best man. Mrs. John Sutton (Evelyn Bardis) of Carmel will be matron of honor.

The bride-to-be, daughter of the late Helen Park Clark of Carmel and Howard G. Park of Santa Ynez Valley, is a graduate of the Anna Head School in Berkeley and has made her home in Carmel for some time.

Mr. Prowell, who will graduate from the Language School this winter in the department of Chinese, attended Mississippi Southern College and Washington and Lee University, and studied for a short time at the Sorbonne in Paris.

The couple plan to make their home here temporarily following the wedding, but expect to be transferred abroad sometime after the benedict's graduation.

Cathy is Seven

Saturday was a big day for Cathy Clancy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clancy. It was her seventh birthday and she had a party.

The big occasion was celebrated in appropriate style with a luncheon featuring everything kids like best: hot dogs, potato salad, olives, ice cream and cake. After lunch came games, and finally a movie matinee with treat on the hostess.

Helping Cathy celebrate were a number of her friends from Woods and River schools: Pamela and Barbie Hately, Jody Ownings, Robin Kvenild, Pamela Redhead, Kristin Miller, Betty Haak, Judy Isenberger, and the birthday girl's sister, Pam Clancy.

Birthday Party for Cindy

Cindy Sutherland had her lucky seven birthday Saturday, and invited a group of her young friends from River School to share in the fun—which included games, prizes, and, of course, quantities of ice cream and cake. Most popular diversion proved to be a lively peanut hunt, set up by Cindy's mother, Mrs. James A. Sutherland.

Cindy's guests were Kathleen Cummings, Joan Felder, Lana Lee Scott, Ruth Ameil, Randy and Dee Kelsey, Susan Shirley, Steven Felder, Brian and Kathleen McEldowney, and Cindy's brother, Jimmy Sutherland.

No-Host Party at Bennetts'

The Adrian Bennett home was the scene of a no-host party Saturday night honoring Mrs. Bennett's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Woodhead of Minneapolis. The Woodheads stopped off briefly in Carmel on their way back from La Jolin, where they have been visiting his father; they planned to return east this week.

Littles in Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie G. Little left Monday for a flight to El Paso, Texas, where they will spend ten days visiting their daughter, Marian, and her husband, Captain Gene Hersche, of Continental Airlines, as well as the Hersches' four doughters. The Littles plan to return to Carmel early next week.

Wayfarer Photography Show

Peninsula photographers are invited to submit prints for an exhibit to open November 1 as part of the Wayfarer Church's 50th anniversary. Photos may be of the church or of activities or people connected with it, and should be 5" x 7" or larger.

The three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Horne are seen together at the reception in the Valley which followed Diana Horne's marriage to Ronald Waite Saturday afternoon at Carmel Mission.

At left are Bill Albee and his wife, the former Barbara Horne, who was her sister's matron-of-honor; at center is bridesmaid Mary Eleanor Horne; and finally, the bride and groom. Diana's wedding gown and veil were the same worn by Barbara at her marriage with Bill here this spring.

It may be some time before the three sisters are reunited again: the Waites have departed for the east to make their home in East Hartford, Connecticut, Mary Eleanor has returned to her job in San Francisco, while the Albees are back in Seattle, where they have lived since their marriage.

Kappa Founders' Day Tea

The Carmel area alumnae club of Kappa Kappa Gamma will hold a Founders' Day tea at the Scenic Avenue home of Mrs. Clinton Walker at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday, October 16.

Nixon To Speak In Salinas Wed.

Vice-president Richard Nixon will pay a flying visit to the Peninsula Wednesday to speak on behalf of Republican candidates in the forthcoming election. It will mark the first time, so far as is known, that a U.S. vice-president has visited Monterey County.

Nixon will arrive at Salinas Airport at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, and will hold a press conference there before leaving for Salinas Armory to deliver his public address. The Armory program will begin promptly at 12:15 and will last until 12:45 o'clock, when Nixon will return to the airport to board a plane for San Luis Obispo. The vice-president will be introduced by Congressional candidate Charles Teague.

The Armory talk will be open to the general public; if space inside proves insufficient to accommodate the crowd, loudspeakers will carry the Nixon address to standees outside the building.

The Republican Women's Club has arranged a motor caravan to Salinas for those planning to attend the Nixon program. A Carmel caravan will leave Sunset School at 10:30 o'clock, with a Monteery contingent departing from Cerrito's at the same time. Anyone wishing transportation may call Carmel Republican Headquarters at 8-0423.

U.N. DAY LUNCHEON

Monterey Peninsula League of Women Voters will sponsor a United Nations Day luncheon October 19 at Spindrift Restaurant. Mrs. W. W. Douglas of Berkeley will be speaker.

TOASTMASTER OFFICERS

Carmel Toastmasters Club elected new officers this week, as follows: George Giarratana, president; Stanley Ewig, vice-president; Howard Levinson, secretary-treasurer; James Foster, sergeant-at-arms; Edwin K. Norton, program chairman; and Richard M. Catlin, deputy governor.

TRYOUTS FOR CIRCLE PLAY

Tryouts for Paul Osborne's The Vinegar Tree will be held Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock under Lee Crowe, director, at the Golden Bough Players' Circle.

Anne P. Schirmer

Mrs. Anne P. Schirmer, a Carmel resident for the past 25 years, died Wednesday at a local hospital following a brief illness. She was 73.

Born in San Francisco, Mrs. Schirmer made her home here at Mesa Drive and Tevis Way. She was an active member of the Monterey Peninsula Garden Club.

She leaves her husband, Walter W. Schirmer of Carmel, and her sister, Mrs. Marion Gannon of Bloomington, Connecticut, as well as three nieces and two nephews.

Private funeral services will be held at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium, with Dr. K. Fillmore Gray presiding.

DIRKSEN, G.O.P. BARBECUE SPEAKER

United States Senator Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, will be the principal speaker at the Monterey County Republican $25 per plate campaign fund raising barbecue on October 24, at the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

CRAFTS EXHIBIT AT LIBRARY

Enamel-on-copper and laminated plastic creations by Elizabeth Harrington comprise the new show in the Carmel Crafts Guild showcase at Carmel Library. The display will continue through November.

ADULT HARMONY CLASS

Pacific Grove High School is offering a new adult education class in harmony, with Charles Bleefield instructor. Class meets at P.G. High Tuesday nights from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock, and is open to anyone interested.

WORLD AFFAIRS TALK TUES.

World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula will meet Tuesday at 8:00 o'clock in the Parish Hall at All Saints' Church. Speaker will be Robert C. F. Gordon, foreign affairs officer to the Secretary of State at Washington.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone.

New Youth Drama School Opening

The need in the community for children's dramatic training will be answered with the opening of The Pink Barn. This youth drama school will be directed by Kathy Kollmer, a personable young woman with a wide background of theatrical experience. She has always felt that creative dramatics and acting training can be fun for children of all ages because it is so closely related to their own play, which is, invariably, dramatic play. Since the fundamental objectives and goals include body coordination, active and creative imagination, resourcefulness and aesthetic sensitivity, a series of classes in these subjects will be given to develop poise and emotional balance.

Miss Kollmer has worked with children for several years at the Louisville Children's Theatre, San Jose Junior Theatre, and The Children's Theatre in Camden, Maine. She understands their problems and needs for self-expression, and hopes that her series of private and group instruction will train our young people to become well-integrated adults, whether they go on into theatre work or choose other professions.

Her plans for The Pink Barn will include courses lasting twelve weeks in both acting and creative dramatics, from ages eight through the high school years. Classes will be limited as to size and age level, and adjustments will be made for children who do not fit into the exact age group or for those who wish private instruction.

An advanced class will follow for those who desire it. Plans include production of a short creative play.

The Peninsula will remember Miss Kollmer for the very fine work she did in assisting Charles Thomas in As You Like It at the Forest Theatre this summer, as well as her splendid portrayal of the shepherdess Phoebe in this same show.

To Patrons of The Del Monte Properties Company

The Company finds it advisable to increase charges at the gates to the Forest by 25 cents an automobile, from 50 cents to 75 cents.

This increase need not affect those who live on the Monterey Peninsula as monthly permits are still available at the old rate of $2.50, and annual permits at $25.00 a year, the same as is paid by property owners in the Del Monte Forest.

These permits may be secured at the Engineering office of the Del Monte Properties Company at Pebble Beach.

The increase will become effective November 1st. —Adv.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The ever-availability of the healing power of the Christ, Truth, will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. Selections to be read from the Bible include the account of Christ Jesus' healing of the leper as given in Matthew (8:1-3):

"When he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him. And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (142: 31): "Truth is God's remedy for error of every kind, and Truth destroys only what is untrue. Hence the fact that, to-day, as yesterday, Christ casts out evils and heals the sick."

idea but didn't force the issue.

The council spent some money. It approved purchase of a walkie talkie for the police department, cost $125; equipment for the fire department, $2450.90; a blackboard, chalk and eraser for the councilroom, $75.

It passed a resolution declaring five grass-grown and littered lots a nuisance and set a hearing for the November 3 meeting. October 26 was set for a meeting with hotelmen, business association, parking district committee, and interested public to discuss parking district and street cleaning problems.

The city attorney and the building inspector were instructed to prepare an ordinance limiting signs on private property and building walls to six square feet, the lettering limited to six inches in height.

Council instructed the city clerk to notify property owners on Junipero between Fifth and Sixth that the council was considering starting storm drainage assessment proceedings since there was one property owner holding out against the co-operative plan by which the property owners buy the materials and the street department does the work. Cost, under the co-operative plan, $75 per lot.

When Councilwoman Smith stated, "A newspaper, the Spectator, is running a business in a residential area," the council instructed the city attorney to take the necessary action.

Council members weren't sure whether or not they wanted to equip a picnic area near the tennis courts and put it on their next tour of inspection.

Council worked through a mass of other detail on trees, streets, traffic, directional signs, garbage, personnel, beach erosion, correspondence and announcements, completing its three-sheet, legal-page size, single-spaced typed agenda at midnight.

City Could Carry The Annual Cost Of Pension Without Tax Increase

pension fund varies with the amount of salary they receive and the classification of their work. Fire and police department employees will contribute from 7.35 to 16.33 percent of their monthly salary; other employees, 7.32 to 12.81.

The retirement plan includes death and disability benefits, as well as pension.

The council decided to hold a meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock to prepare a written statement explaining the costs and benefits, which will be mailed to all registered voters before election.

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

This time of year . . . here we go . . . to prune or not to prune. Fuchsias are the moot question and each year there are controversies over time and place for stripping fuchsia branches. Each gardener is a law unto himself, and what is good for this problem may not be good for that problem.

I prune all my fuchsias in October and next week will see me at it, hard and fast. Why do I prune my own fuchsias and advise the next fellow to hold off until later in the year, or even to wait until January? There are literally hundreds and hundreds of fuchsia varieties; some are tender, others are hardy. My garden goes to sleep in late September and early October. The variety that I prune early is Schiller, a very hardy, tall growing and early shattering bush. The ones in my patio are already seer and yellow, dropping all over the place, practically begging for a cut-back. When one's patio is an extension of one's living room, housekeeping goes almost out to the road, and I cannot have a patio littered with trash, so I cut back early in the fall, drastically.

A good rule as to fuchsia pruning is to let the plants tell you themselves when the time has come for cut-back. Many varieties go right on through the winter giving forth color, showing no tendency to dormancy; I would leave these alone until they begin to shatter and turn yellow. The question of frost comes up and many gardeners fear to prune fuchsias until as late as February.

I have never found this a serious problem. My patio fuchsias that are cut back early in the fall have never been bothered with frost bite. Other varieties more tender may suffer, but I wouldn't worry about that. In pruning any shrub, never clip the outside edges even, to form a ball. Always prune from the center of the shrub, taking branches that are keeping sunlight and air from the roots, and stagger the cutting so each branch is different in length from another.

I am told that it is not fair to fertilize fuchsias at this time of year, since an artificial stimulant is apt to wear the plant out. This theory holds with most shrubs and trees. Let your garden rest during this dormant season, even if the Pacific Coast does not indulge in bitter winter.

This is a good time to make fuchsia cutings. Take several tender tips, and several woody parts and try them all. You never know which one will respond, yet if you make enough cuttings, some are sure to make the grade.

Free Performance Of Cosi Fan Tutte At Sunset Saturday

prano, and Elinor Jorgensen, mezzo soprano, as their flirtatious fiancees Fiordiligi and Dorabella; Dominic DiMare, bass-baritone, as the cynical Don Alfonso; and Eileen Kidwell, lyric soprano, as the pert, sophisticated maid, Despina. Mary Whitmer and Wade Parks will provide piano accompaniments.

The six soloists share a wide range of experience in opera, concert and musical comedy. James Gordon, who has been heard in recital here on several occasions, spent two seasons with the St. Louis Municipal Opera Company and two years with the roadshow tour of the New York production of Show Boat. Wallace Doolittle, a "regular" in the Bach Festival Chorus, has taken part in many local productions, while Dominic DiMare has appeared in recital for the Musical Arts Club and as baritone soloist in a local performance of Menotti's The Medium. Margaret Graham recently returned here after studying in Rome, where she was heard in numerous operatic and concert appearances; she has also sung several concert programs here on the Peninsula. Elinor Jorgensen has performed with the Bach Festival Chorus, as well as with the Musical Arts Theatre group at Pasadena Playhouse and the Pasadena Civic Chorus. Eileen Kidwell has sung for two Carmel Musical Arts programs and has been featured in drama and olio at the First Theatre.

In Cosi Fan Tutte (which will be sung in English), Mozart created one of his most delightful scores to enhance a lighthearted, farcical plot which concerns the efforts (frequently hilarious) of the lovers Ferrando and Guglielmo to ascertain the fidelity of their fiancees. The resulting complications, expressed musically in a series of lilting arias and witty, sparkling recitatives, prove the opera's title, literally translated "they all do it," before the happy ending is reached.
